

The "Tiger's" Rose — France's former Premier evidently enjoying the fragrance of a big American Beauty presented to him by a feminine admirer as he stepped on American soil at the Battery. Fotograms.

Mayor Hylan, on a vacation in Chicago for a few days, heard there was good perch fishing in Lake Michigan. Off came the dignified silk hat, and, digging a cap and the necessary tools out of the bag, he took his place with the rest of the patient anglers on the pier at Edgewater Beach. They had steak for dinner that night. Wide World.

The steamship Majestic, largest passenger vessel afloat, in drydock at the Charlestown Navy Yard, Boston, with hundreds of workmen scraping and painting the hull in an effort to give her greater speed. This is the first time the Majestic has been overhauled since she was in service, and the Boston drydock is the only one in America that is capable of receiving her. Levick.

New York's mighty welcome to Georges Clemenceau. The famous French statesman reviewing a guard of honor composed of United States war veterans upon his arrival at City Hall on his unofficial visit to America. Pacific and Atlantic.

The "big three" of America's amusement industry, guests of honor at the Friars' dinner. Left to right: Will Hays, guardian of the film; Kenesaw M. Landis, czar of baseball, and Augustus Thomas, director of the stage.

Dr. Hendrik Shipstead, Farmer-Labor Senator-elect from Minnesota, takes his rest after the campaign by going after ducks, a sport in which, judging by the bag, he is well versed. Pacific and Atlantic.

Miss Esther McDonald of Northwestern University, recently voted the most beautiful girl in the mid-West colleges, stands at the head of her class in studies and keeps herself in physical trim by a daily run along the lake front. Wide World.

Congress's new lady members presented with bouquets on their arrival in Washington. Mrs. W. H. Felton of Georgia (left), the nation's only woman Senator, and Mrs. W. Mason Huck of Illinois, recently elected to the House of Representatives. Harris & Ewing.